ABOUT THE PRESENTER

Milton Tyree

Project Associate for the University of Kentucky and owner of Milton Tyree Employment
Consulting, LLC

Milton has more than 40 years of experience in the design, development and provision of supports and services centered on people with disabilities having access to valued aspects of everyday life. A particular area of interest has been the ongoing struggle around people with disabilities having good employment.

Milton’s employment efforts have been strongly influenced by the work of the late Dr. Marc Gold, and he’s an associate with Marc Gold & Associates (MG&A). He’s also had extensive opportunities for study, work and teaching related to the late Dr. Wolf Wolfensberger’s Social Role Valorization (SRV) theory and its many implications for employment services. He is a retired project director of the University of Kentucky’s Human Development Institute where he continues part-time work focused on open employment leadership development.

Most of Milton’s career has been within his home state of Kentucky, but includes additional teaching opportunities in other US states, Canada, Ireland, India, Australia, and New Zealand.

Supporting a person with disability into genuine employment? We’ll explore the steps for success.

Interested in learning more about the Job Development process? We’ll unpack this with Milton Tyree.

What is a visual resume and how do I complete one? We’ll share examples of what this may look like.
